Tandem flying is the ideal way to get a taste of paragliding. Given good weather, a highly experienced pilot in control of a large, stable paraglider can take his passenger to the base of the clouds in comfort. Often we fly up to 4000 feet in Sussex, far above the heights normally flown by other light aircraft. In the right conditions, the passenger can assume control of the glider; or just relax, admire the view and take a few photos.

You don't need to be especially fit to fly. Take off and landing involves running just a few steps and once airborne you sit back in a comfortable seat and lean a little to assist turning. Call us to discuss any particular concerns. We are able to take passengers weighing between 35 and 100 kg (5.5 and 16 stone). Children aged between 7 and 17 require written parental consent.

The pilots are always abreast of the weather situation and can discuss exactly when is the best time to fly with us. The decision to go ahead with the day is made at about 8.30 p.m. on the preceding evening. A message will be left telling you when and where to meet if we're unable to answer the phone. All aviation is weather dependent, and if you are unable to fly we simply re-schedule.

We provide helmets. You'll need to wear your own ankle supporting boots and warm clothes. It's good to bring a picnic to make for an enjoyable day on the hills while waiting for perfect weather. Please be available 9 am until dusk.

We hope you will enjoy your taste of this most elegant form of aviation with us.
